A DEADLY PARALLEL

There is a deadly parallel of movie history to be found in radio today. As in any new industry, the Get Rich Wallingfords are doing their stuff and the grist of suckers, true to Mr. Barnum's prediction, never runs out.

In the early movie days fortunes were made over night. The butcher and the baker and the candlestick maker pooled their hard-earned money and rented a store room. A few chairs, a sheet and projecting room fitted out the interior and a gaudy box office beckoned to the passerby.

A movie camera, a few broken down actors and the stage was set for a stock selling campaign. The dividends were promised in glowing words and the beautifully engraved stock certificates could not be resisted. But the dividends came not. Someone saw to that.

The leather lung promoter looms large again. Radio is enjoying a heavy immigration from the land of cloak and suit. The easy-money gentry has heard of the soft road to Doughville.

All that is necessary is to take some twisted wire, knobs, some transformers, a condenser and a couple of whatyoumaycallits and put them in a box and shake well before showing. Behold there is a new radio set born.

The stock salesman will tell you it's a world beater. It's the very thing the world has been longing for because it couldn't be found—but here it is at last. Your savings invested in this marvelous thing will fix you for life. And it will.

The first time one of those fresh boys wants to make some money for you, just remember that the radio companies which have been in business for a dozen years or so are not peddling any nice fresh stock. If there are any dividends to be made, they will be pocketed by the men "on the ground floor." Looks like it ought to be a hard year for this type of promoter.

SPLIT ON TAX CUTTING

While the democratic party leaders in the North are working feverishly, proclaiming and voting for the Coolidge policies of economy, thrift and efficiency, in their effort to dress their democratic wolf in sheep's clothing, they are having trouble keeping their southern brethren in line. The northern democratic cry for tax-saving sounds strangely on the ears of the democrats from south of the Mason and Dixon line.

Now and again the storm breaks. Only a few days ago the Al Smith democrats were reduced to tears when their southern party workers broke on the floor of the house to declare that they had no interest in reducing taxes when it was the northerners who had to pay the bulk of them. In substance the southern argument was that as the money from taxes came in the main from New York, Chicago, and points further west, and relatively little from the south, they did not see why they should be worried by reduction programs. Talk like this makes democratic stump-speaking in northern centers a sad and wearisome performance.

President Hindenberg costs the German republic twice as much as did his predecessor President Ebert. But anyhow, it will have to be admitted that he is worth more than he was when he worked for the kaiser.

SOME CHANGES IN NEW ENGLAND

While colonial wars were being fought, and while political battles were being waged, the colonies were not standing still. Slowly and steadily the colonies had been growing. More and more people were coming each year to try their fortune in a new world. Not only in numbers were they growing but also in variety. At first the New England colonies had been purely English. Their religious beliefs had been similar and perhaps they had hoped to keep the strain pure.

But it broadened them and smoothed their differences to have a greater variety among their people.

Now came many Scotch-Irish people. They were thrifty. They were good workers. Moreover, they taught the New Englanders linen-making. So they commenced to make their own clothes of this. And they brought over the potato, hitherto not grown in New England. The farmers found that it thrived very well. They began to be glad that these people had come to live among them.

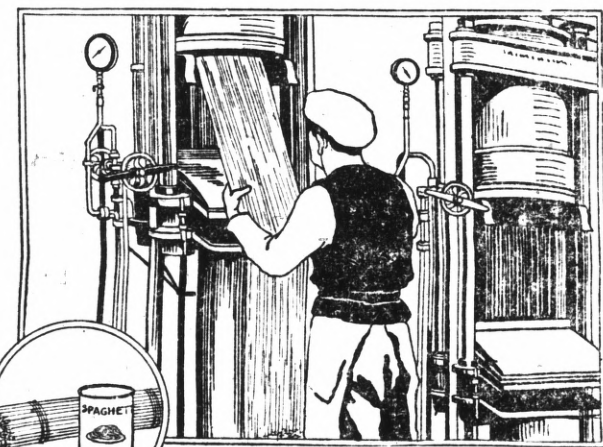

At the beginning of the eighteenth century there were a half million colonists from England on this side of the water. We must keep in mind that there were constantly growing numbers here, else we cannot understand the victories of the Revolution. A handful of colonists, worn out by privation and Indian wars, could scarcely have won the Revolutionary War.

New England slowly lost her aloofness. She began to be more progressive and to look ahead. Massachusetts colony gradually lost her proud leadership.

And as more and more colonists landed on her shores the New England people began to move farther toward the inland. They won their way into the forests, instead of all nestling down on the coast. Their look was westward, where were new lands and perhaps greater possibilities.

Similar changes were taking place in other colonies. They too were growing, in variety as well as numbers. They too were losing their aloofness. They too, were beginning to move a little toward the westward to make room for newcomers.

Spaghetti In The Making

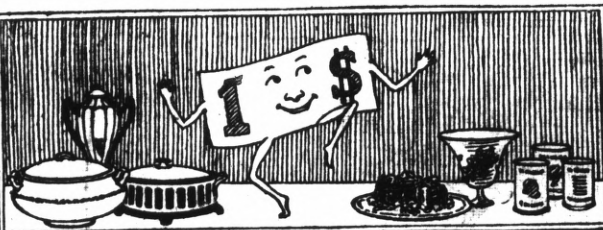

With tremendous pressure force through small holes in a perforated plate at the bottom of the cylinder. This is called the "trifila" and its form fixes the character of the product. The hollow form of macaroni is given by a steel pin in the holes. Smaller holes without pins produce the solid spaghetti.

Spaghetti and macaroni, cut off at the proper lengths, are looped over frames to dry. In the best-conducted factories in this country, the heated drying-rooms are supplied with washed, filtered and continually changing air. In Italy, the drying is done out-of-doors.

At the cannery, the spaghetti is thoroughly cooked in steam retort, blended with cheese and tomato sauce, and automatically sealed in air-tight cans. It needs only re-heating, to be ready for the table. This dish of Italian origin adds variety to the menu.

When we open a can of spaghetti, all cooked and tastily blended with tomato sauce and cheese, we give little thought to its origin. It is as much a matter of course to us as if it grew in the garden. Yet the fact is, spaghetti and its big brother, macaroni, are manufactured articles, made from a paste created out of the meal or "semolina" that comes from crushing very hard, glutinous wheat—in this country known as durum or macaroni wheat.

The semolina is moistened with a very small quantity of boiling water, and is then mixed by machinery until smooth and "tough." A powerful extruding-machine works up the dough until ready to go into the cylinder of a press, where revolving screws

A Dollar Dinner for Four

A dinner costing only $1.00 and which will serve four people, may be had from the following menu:

Buttered Stringless Beans on Toast
Cream of Corn Soup
Escalloped Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Coffee

Enough coffee for four people bought at an average rate of 40 cents a pound, would cost approximately 4 cents. The Apple Snow is made from one can of applesauce costing at the rate of 2 for 25 cents, or 13 cents apiece, at special sales, and a pint of milk costing 9 cents. Two cans of the stringless beans would be needed, at the rate of 2 for 25 cents at special sales. One can of tomatoes—of which there is frequently a sale of 2 for 25 cents—may be estimated as costing 8 cents. A loaf of bread costing 8 cents at some stores and 6 cents at the cheaper stores will supply the toast and also the bread for the meal.

Stringless beans on toast and escalloped tomatoes are both excellent substitutes for meat, and together supply a substantial main course.

Betty Crocker Chats

Thousands of women in all parts of the United States listen to the Home Service Talks broadcast by Betty Crocker, nationally known food specialist, from the following broadcasting stations: WEBC, Boston, Mass.; WEAF, New York, N. Y.; WCAE, Pittsburgh, Pa.; WGR, Buffalo, N. Y.; WEAR, Cleveland, Ohio; WJF, Detroit, Mich.; WDAF, Kansas City, Mo.; WHF, Chicago, Ill.; WFL, Philadelphia, Pa.; KSD, St. Louis, Mo.; KFI, Los Angeles, Calif.; and WCCO, the Gold Medal Station, Minneapolis—Saint Paul. All of her recipes and discussions are based upon investigations and work of herself and her assistants in model kitchens.

By special arrangement the Record-Herald is now able to offer its readers this service which heretofore was given out exclusively over the radio.

HOW often we hear a woman say, "I should like to save on my food bill, but I don't know how to do it." I should like to save on my food bill, but I don't know how to do it. I like to make a salad, but I don't know how to do it. I like to make a salad, but I don't know how to do it. I like to make a salad, but I don't know how to do it.

Save Utensils and Work. Time may be saved by changing the method of preparation of the food so as to save utensils and work. Drop biscuit or emergency biscuit can be made up more quickly than rolled biscuit is a good example. It takes less time to drop the biscuit than to roll and cut them, and you do not have the board and rolling pin to wash.

Keep Things Handy. Three meals a day and the everlasting dishes occupy entirely too large a proportion of the day in some homes. Have you ever carefully studied the arrangements of your kitchen to discover whether or not the stove, table, cupboard, and sink are in the best possible location? A pretty white kitchen with all the utensils carefully put away out of sight is indeed a nice looking room, but it is not my idea of a workshop. Why not have the utensils you use most often within reach? Brushes, knives, spoons, egg beaters, etc., should hang so close to your table or cabinet that you can reach them without taking an extra step. If you must walk across the room and open a drawer every time you want a knife or cup or spoon, no wonder it takes all day to prepare the meals.

Very often it is possible to save time by cooking enough of a certain food for two meals at once. However, this is not a good method unless you have the meals planned in advance. If all the meals for a week are planned together you can save both time and money and also have more variety in your diet. For example, it is easy to cook carrots for two meals if you know that you can use the left overs to make a soup. I often cook an extra amount of several vegetables, and then at the end of two or three days have a way out.

It seems unnecessary to say that it saves a lot of time and work if you watch the food that is cooking, so that it does not burn or cook down dry in the pans. That not only wastes food, but you have to spend so much time scraping and scrubbing the burned utensils. Any plan which serves as a short cut for the family of 2 may be useful in a family of 12 and vice versa. Each homemaker must work out her own individual problems, but remember that there is always a way out.

Famous Cooks Of Yesterday And Today

ALTHOUGH the culinary department of the home has been generally regarded as "woman's sphere," some of the most famous cooks in history have been men. The great chefs in the history of cooking, from the ancient Greeks and Romans to the modern chefs of today, have been men. Many others, particularly in France and Italy, became famous for special dishes or for their expert cookery in general. In New York and other large American cities, there are noted chefs today, who attract patrons to the hotels or restaurants where they officiate.

But the master-cook of today is the canner, who prepares for all the world nutritious, and appetizing foods. Of the convenience of these the chefs who must daily cook for hundreds of people gladly avail themselves. And to millions of busy housewives these foods, so handy and hygienically prepared, are an inestimable blessing.

Palm Beach society is said to be swapping butlers. Nobody objects to that. It is the somewhat prevalent practice of swapping husbands in so-called society that suggests material for sermonizing.

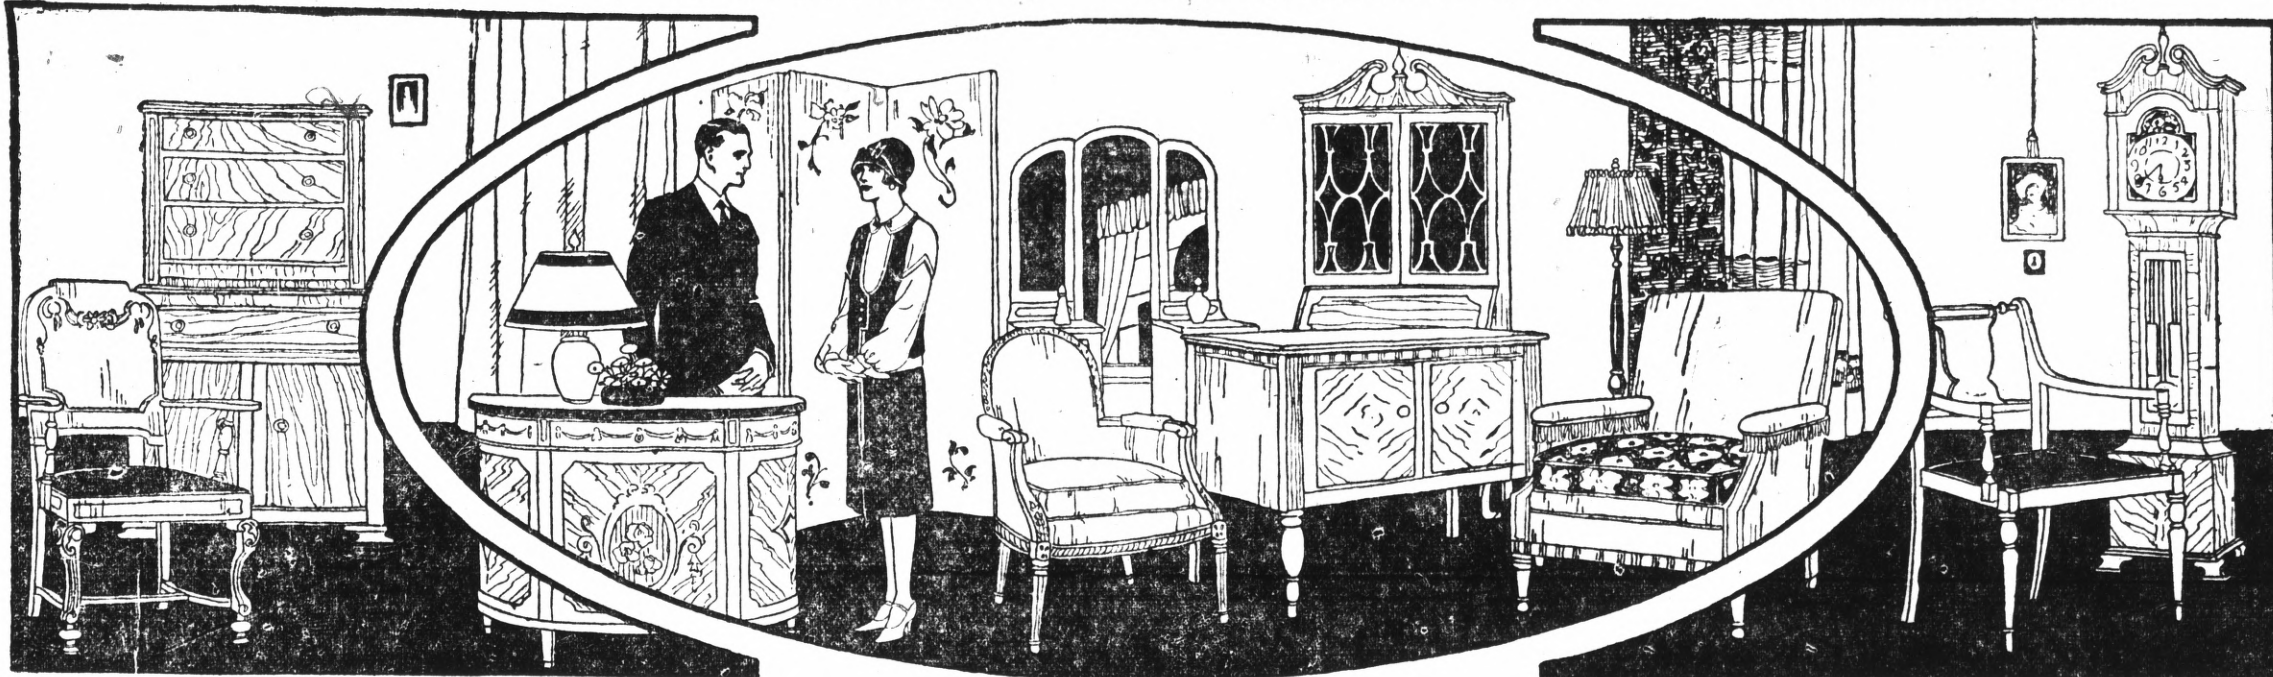

A sudden electrical storm caused a panic in a Brooklyn theatre the other night. Doubtless the audience thought the local gunmen were staging a city wide celebration.

Southern Scientists Making Some Startling Discoveries Regarding Electricity In Pasadena Laboratory

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, March 15.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, with Carl F. Eyring of the California Institute of Technology, at Pasadena, have made some startling discoveries regarding electrons which to the lay mind, at least, seem as if they might be the initial step toward determining a definition of what is electricity; this is, of course, so far not at all a scientific deduction, merely a suggestion to the imagination.

But the fact remains that the investigation has resulted in the "pulling" of electrons out of metals by use of powerful electric "fields."

It is of enough importance to be made the subject of a lecture in a series which Dr. Millikan is to deliver at Cornell University this month and next, under the Messenger Endowment, which was given to provide lectures on "the evolution of civilization for the special purpose of raising the moral standard of our political, business and social life."

These lectures are to be given by the "ablest non" resident lecturer or lecturers obtainable.

The substance of this discovery implies, as Dr. Millikan today expressed it, "the first direct evidence that form electric currents, are not the same as the electrons held at atoms."

"But that these electrons are loose from atoms and can step along through the metal under the influence of an applied potential voltage."

"The advance in our information is in the ease with which we get these electrons, which is no better at 1600 degrees F. than it is at an ordinary temperature."

"Heretofore we have got electrons out of metals by using heat, boiling them out, or by bombarding metals' surfaces with atoms."

"That means that these 'loose' electrons which form electric currents do not share in the energy of thermal agitation of atoms as they were supposed to do."

"These 'loose' electrons exist in conductors of electricity, which are mainly metals."

Dr. Millikan would not go further in stating reductions from this discovery, but to the speculative mind it opens a vast field of possibility.

Apparently there are two types of electrons; what further investigation will disclose, may, though Dr. Millikan was silent on this point, lead to a solution of the mystery of electricity.

Where Is Your Husband Tonight; Film Will Tell

Where is your husband tonight? Unless he's sitting quietly by the family fireside you ought to know!

There's a new and amusing way to discover exactly what your husband's doing, and Constance Talmadge reveals it in "Her Sister From Paris," her new starring comedy-drama of domestic life, which opened yesterday at the Richmond Theatre.

The opening scenes of the story reveal Constance as a patient, mock and loving little wife whose spouse is an author of charming stories. But she insists on feeding him doughnuts when he's thinking of moonlight and roses and lovely romance, and so they have a family tiff.

But Constance never gives up. She disguises herself as her madcap sister from Paris, reputed to be a charmer of hearts. In this guise she lures her husband away from the family fireside and persuades him to elope with her. The rest of the story reveals a new method of winning a husband's love.

"Her Sister From Paris" is an original story by Hans Kralay, who wrote many of the Lubitsch successes. Ronald Colman and George K. Arthur share the male honors. Sidney Franklin directed. The picture is a Joseph M. Schenck production for First National.

Other features include "Why Hurry," a Jimmie Adams comedy; "Topics of the Day"; "Aesop's Fables."

Boy Killed By Car At San Ramon

Lawrence Gonsalves, 10, a son of Mrs. Joe Gonsalves was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by L. G. Beach at San Ramon on Sunday. Beach took the boy to Danville, where efforts to find a doctor proved fruitless.

According to witnesses the boy was going home with an ice cream cone grasped in his hand, when he dashed across the street in the path of the approaching automobile. He was knocked to the pavement, where he received injuries to the head that proved fatal.

It was some time before the boy was identified.

Beach surrendered himself to the Contra Costa authorities, but was released upon his own recognizance.

BLUEBEARD

Ben Lyon as he appears in "Bluebeard's Seven Wives" now being screened at the California Theatre.

Film Star May Dictate Styles

Colleen Moore—not Paris—is likely to influence fashions this season, according to advance reports from those who have seen the star's latest picture, "Irene."

In this film which is based on the musical comedy triumph, "Irene," Miss Moore and sixty Hollywood beauties stage a fashion show which is reported to be the last word in styles. The scene is heightened by the fact that it has been filmed in colors, pre-viewers state.

The gowns, according to information gleaned from the management of the California Theatre, where the picture is booked next Wednesday and Thursday for its first local showing, were designed by Cora MacGeachy, the master-creator of the gowns worn by the dazzling members of Flo Ziegfeld's "Follies."

Featured in Miss Moore's support in the new film are Lloyd Hughes, George K. Arthur and Charles Murray. The production was directed by Alfred E. Green and editorially supervised by June Mathis, a scenarist of many notable screen productions.

An all Irish program of music has been arranged by Larry Canelo, the California's popular organist, as a special added feature to be offered with the showing of "Irene" which starts on St. Patrick's Day.

California Film Has a Number of Original Scenes

There is so much that is original and amusing in Robert T. Kane's First National production "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," shown here for the first time at the California Theatre last night, that the reviewer is hard put to it to know where to begin in describing the merits of the piece.

Undoubtedly, however, one of the highlights of the production is the performance of the stuttering bank clerk who rises to the heights of movie stardom. Heretofore Ben Lyon has appeared in roles designed chiefly to offset his good looks. In "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," he often submerges his looks in favor of a unique and clever characterization, the full details of which we will not reveal here.

"Bluebeard's Seven Wives" is chiefly a comedy, yet one of the most outstanding passages in it is purely romantic. This consists of two sequences of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" as played by Lyon and Blanche Sweet as his vis-a-vis. Miss Sweet never looked more entrancing than she does in the famous balcony scene and her acting in the tragic climax is marked with full appreciation of the role and the dramatic weight of the situations involved.

For the most part the picture proceeds at a high comedy clip, the plot centering around the efforts of a press agent to promote Lyon to international fame as a movie star. To do this he invents a sensational future of the young man, in which seven beautiful wives are thrown across his path. Lyon has his own true sweetheart, Lois Wilson, and it is with difficulty and uproarious comedy that he finally escapes from the press agent's manipulations.

The scenes in the motion picture studio are vastly interesting and several well known figures of the film world are humorously sketched in. In addition to the trio of stars already mentioned, such celebrities of the screen as Dorothy Sebastian, Diana Kane (Lois Wilson's sister), Sam Hardy, Wilfred Lytell, Dick Bernard, Andrew Mack and Dan Pennington also appear.

Other features include "Yes Les Barbettes," a Bobby Vernon comedy; "Mother o'Gose Movies," a Hodge Podge novelty; "Topics of the Day," Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Hawaii to Have Park Named After Island Discoverer

(By Universal Service)
HONOLULU, March 15.—Plans suggested by government officials in Hawaii for creating a public park about the monument of Captain James Cook, noted explorer, navigator and discoverer of these islands, at Kealahou, island of Hawaii, have met with favorable response from the government of New Zealand, according to advices received by Governor W. R. Farrington from Sir Joseph Carruthers, leader of the New Zealand upper house of parliament.

Advices state that an appropriation of $1000 is to be set aside for the improvement of the area about the monument which marks the spot where Captain Cook was slain. The land on which the monument is located is the property of the British government.

The Best Milk for Babies

Consider the fact that we have our own cows that are carefully watched, and graze on our own clover fields. We also bottle and pasteurize the milk right on our own ranch. That's why our milk is preferred for babies.

HEEDED MOTHER'S ADVICE
Oakland, Cal., Feb. 26, 1926.
For more than a year I suffered from hemorrhage from a tumor. During this time I was treated by several physicians, all of whom agreed that an operation was the only thing that could help me. Neither my husband nor I liked the idea of the knife.

Upon the advice of my mother who, after having an operation on the right side, the wound forming a fistula which had never healed for 14 years, had found complete relief and fistula healed by drinking the Fong Wan Herbs, I decided to try them. Owing to my terrible condition and my extremely poor health, it took about six months before I was entirely well. I am now in splendid health and my old trouble have been completely vanquished.

I formerly lived at 1805 Howard street, San Francisco, but have recently removed to Oakland. My phone number is Market 6550.

U. C. Professor Declares That Men and Women of the Future May Be Hairless and Toothless

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, March 15.—Men and women of the future may be hairless and toothless.
According to a high degree of mental development, their lower jaws may show a corresponding lack.
Man will continue to rule the earth as now, but he will face a battle with insects, his nearest rival.
These amazing theories were advanced today by Prof. S. J. Holmes, department of zoology, University of California, and widely noted author of scientific works on the theory of evolution and heredity.

Man is not at the end of physical evolution, but man is facing

Human Bones Are Believed to Be 20,000 Years Old

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Astounding indications that the fossil bones of man discovered in Florida may date back 20,000 years have sent C. Wythe Cook, geologist of the United States Geological Survey, on a hurried trip to that state, it was learned today.
Should the proofs now at hand be confirmed, they will indicate that this earliest American roamed the continent with the Mammoths and the Mastodons.

BIRTHS RECORDED

Three baby girls were born at the Richmond Maternity hospital during the week-end.

They were to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Conn, 152 South Fifth street; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Xenakis, 1125 Bissell avenue; and Mr. and Mrs. D. Treadway, Walnut Creek.

about, is making these lines of less importance to his welfare.
"Primal man," he said, "made progress by small use of his hand. Hunting through jungles and plains for food, fighting with the beasts of the early animal world for his very existence, his was a physical life tending to development and arms and legs.
"Man is using his head and this will tend to develop high head in the man of the future.

"Prepared, concentrated foods will do away with use of teeth and the lower part of the head will cease to develop in proportion to the skull.
"Man's arms now are used principally for handling the steering wheel of an automobile, guiding a pencil or pen, or hanging onto a street car strap. His mind, however, is far superior to that of his early cave man and tree dwelling ancestor."

As for the rivalry between man and the insect for world dominance, Holmes said that insect capacity for organization, which surpasses that of any other form of life, is the chief threat. Insects propagate so enormously, he said, that unless a balance of extinction such as now prevails is continued, in a short time insects would overrun the earth.
"However, man on the other hand," he said, "is so far advanced that it is doubtful if insects can ever approach his lead."

Illinois to Start Finish Fight On Crime and Crooks

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 15.—Business and finance of Illinois are preparing to unite for a finish fight against criminals whose violations against life and property are injuring the name of the state and causing losses aggregating millions of dollars annually.

This campaign will be waged under the direction of every business, labor, banking and woman's organization operating outside of the city of Chicago.

Frank O. Lowden, former governor, has been approached regarding the campaign, and urged to accept the general chairmanship of the organization. According to an announcement today, by Walter F. Dodd, of the Illinois State Bar Association, who is actively participating in the formation of the proposed group, he has indicated that he is not adverse to the suggestion, although his ultimate acceptance may rest upon the likelihood of finding the required time to lend his undivided efforts for the campaign's success.

Liquid Air Bath Is New Treatment For Obeseness

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, March 15.—Fat men you are all wrong!
For years you've been taking arduous exercise and frequenting steam rooms.

You should freeze off the fat! That is startling and wholly new and original theory of fat reduction advanced by chemistry students at the University of California today.

What you should do, in a nutshell, is this:
Sweat off three or four pounds at a time at 360 degrees below zero!

Liquid air baths is the method. Severe and shocking as it may sound, the method is entirely harmless.

The fat man, seeking the new reduction process, is simply submerged in liquid air for a few minutes.

As a consequence, the body temperature is raised about two degrees. This burns up surplus fat. The after effect is similar to the reaction after a cold shower.

Students who underwent experiments during the research that established the new method say the benefits are noticed immediately. And the only discernible drawback for fat men is this:
A liquid air bath induces an enormous appetite.

Attempt Made to Rob Flag Garage

In attempting to halt an intended holdup at the Flag Garage at San Pablo, C. L. Frye of El Cerrito sustained a broken nose and a bruised face early Sunday morning. Frye was knocked unconscious, but evidently the robbers were frightened away because a check up shows that nothing was taken.

Frye reported to the police that a machine drove up to his service station and the occupants ordered five gallons of gasoline. When Frye went into the station to change a bill the two followed him and when he turned to hand back the change found the muzzle of an automatic uncomfortable close to his nose.

Frye cleared for action and in the course of the melee was knocked unconscious. Recovering he found that apparently nothing was taken.

As a consequence, the body temperature is raised about two degrees. This burns up surplus fat. The after effect is similar to the reaction after a cold shower.

Students who underwent experiments during the research that established the new method say the benefits are noticed immediately. And the only discernible drawback for fat men is this:

McFARLAND AND DIEGLE LOSE
One is wondering whether Willie McFarlane the national open champion is having an off day. On Sunday he lost a match with Lee Diegle, Canadian open champion to Willie Kline and Charley Murray, two pros at a club at Palm Beach, Fla. It was at the eighteenth green that Kline decided the match. He sank a fifteen foot putt for a birdie three, bringing his partner and him the match.

WHEN WES AND ALEC MEET

Wesley—we are surprised! Naughty, naughty! The Hon. Mrs. W. Griffin said sacker for the Mission Bears started a little free for all when the Mission team met the Merchants club at Stockton on Sunday. Seems as if Alec Remington, semi-pro pitcher for the Merchants called Wes a big ham. Both Wes and Alec are mild mannered men, but as the friends of Alec claim, he had indulged in some liquid of the third rail voltage on Saturday night. Wes got tired of being nominated for a pig ham and started at Alec, fist-flying. The rest of the team were willing to indulge in the Anglo-

LOCAL COMETS WIN FROM EL CERRITO CLUB

The Richmond Comets took the El Cerrito Athletic Club into camp with a 14 to 11 win last night in the high school gymnasium. Barbieri and Villalobos, filling the two forward position assisted by Johnson, pivot man, succeeded in making enough points to send the Club home with the small end of the score.

However, at half time the Comets were trailing with 29 to the Club's 39. The whole game was conspicuous for its close guarding and many tries for baskets. The Comets' line-up was as follows: Barbieri and Villalobos, forwards; O. Johnson, center; Malliani and Guadalupe, guards.

Strong at the finish is PARABASE

IT'S the last few miles—just before you drain your crank-case and fill up again—that do the damage to your motor. Inferior oils break down and lose their lubricating qualities—and then you are in trouble.

Parabase was made to take you safely through those last few miles. Parabase will take you as far as you expect it to and then a little farther. It stands up under the stress and heat in your motor.

Tell your garage or service station man to fill your crank-case with Parabase. Notice the immediate difference in your motor's performance—but remember, "It's the end of the run that counts."

British O.M.S. Nome Coast Guard Is Expected Rescues 9 Caught to Break Strike On Huge Ice Pack

(By Universal Service)
NOME, March 15.—Elaborate plans for dealing with a general strike through the new O. M. S., just been perfected by the Government, who fear a labor dispute in the coming winter.

Plans have been framed because the Government realizes that in the winter resort they are responsible to the country for the maintenance of essential supplies and that matured plans are imperative for dealing with any sudden emergency.

Chief commissioner, who business it would be to survey the emergency measures for the county as a whole, has been appointed Sir William Mitchell, the postmaster-general. The country has been divided into districts, each with its local chief commissioner.

Sir William Mitchell, there is a food commissioner, a transport commissioner, a way commissioner, a postal commissioner, a liaison officer and the police.

Recruiting officers have also been appointed for enlisting the services of volunteer workers.

During the last few months the official organization for the maintenance of supplies (O. M. S.) has prepared lists of people who are skilled or semi-skilled in various occupations and would be available for emergency work.

If the emergency were sufficiently grave these lists would be handed over to the authorities in order to avoid the confusion and delay arising from indiscriminate recruiting of people whose capabilities are unknown.

A careful census has been made of the motor transport immediately available, of the labor required to run it and where that labor can be obtained.

The food requirements of localities and the necessary transport have been estimated.

The Government claims that the plan could be put into operation in forty-eight hours. They realize, however, that they are facing any challenge to labor measures have been designed.

Nome Coast Guard Rescues 9 Caught On Huge Ice Pack

(By Universal Service)
NOME, Alaska, March 15.—How the Nome Coast Guard detachment lives up to the finest traditions of their service and heroically rescued nine Eskimos, including a girl and two children, who were caught on a drifting ice pack was revealed late today. The incident took place yesterday afternoon near here.

A strong north wind caused the ice to break off and the pack drifted rapidly away. The nine Eskimos, members of a seal hunting party, were caught on the drifting ice. Captain Ross and his crew adopted desperate measures to effect the rescue.

Putting a dog team in their boat the guardsmen put out to sea until they reached the edge of the pack. Here they made the boat fast and using the dog team traveled seven miles over the pack to the spot where the nine Eskimos were. They were unaware of their danger.

The entire party rushed back to the spot where the nine Eskimos were. The brave dogs who made the feat possible, took to the boat. The sled floated on behind. Constant bailing was necessary to keep afloat. The party finally reached shore safely, where the guardsmen were cheered.

Nystrom, manager, the laundry agrees to care for all the suits and towels for the period of one year.

Services will be supplied at the rate of one and one-half cents for bath towels; one cent for hand towels and three and three-fourths cents for suits.

According to the Government's duty to safeguard the life of the community against disruptive movements.

Spanish War Veteran Commit Suicide By Exploding Dynamite On Rock Near Sonoma K.P. Home

(Copyright 1926, Universal Service)
SANTA ROSA, Cal., March 15.—How Harry Sterling Hooper, 51, Spanish American War veteran, despondent over broken health and finances, blew himself to pieces by striking a piece of capped dynamite against a rock was revealed here today by officials of the Sonoma county Coroner's office.

"A failure financially, my health broken and my mind gone. I have decided to end it all," read part of a note found in his cabin by his wife. Discovery of the note was the first intimation of anything wrong.

Attendants of the Knights of Pythias Home, near here, were notified by Mrs. Hooper, and a search was started. Fragments of Hooper's body were found around the rock, in the hills by the Valley of the Moon, near the Pythias home.

The note, carefully penned, told briefly of his life struggle, of his disappointments and final resolve, and included a tribute to his wife. "To the dearest girl in the world, the one who has been for 28 years a faithful, loving, devoted wife," the note began.

"As you know, dear heart, I used to be a man," is continued. "I went into the Spanish-American war a private and came out a First Sergeant."

"I held some good positions years ago, but somewhere along the trail my mind, always unstable, has cracked under the strain."

Five Are Injured In Four Accidents Over Week End

In four accidents in Richmond during the week-end five people were injured and one was injured seriously.

Raymond Palmer of Mira Vista, is in the Cottage hospital suffering from cuts and bruises about the face and head and fracture of both legs below the knees.

Palmer was picked up early yesterday morning beside San Pablo avenue just south of the Santa Fe tracks. He was found in a dazed condition by John Hermann, a proprietor of a restaurant at San Pablo avenue and Cutting boulevard and rushed to a hospital for treatment.

According to Palmer's story he was returning home from Oakland. He got off of the street car at Stege Junction and started home. He was struck down by an automobile approaching from behind.

Palmer declared that a good number of machines "passed him up before Hermann picked him up."

On Saturday afternoon an automobile driven by Vincent Gordon overturned at the Blakes Quarry and a man, woman and two children received slight cuts and bruises.

According to the local police the brakes on the car that Gordon was driving refused to operate when it reached the top of the hill near the quarry. The automobile backed down the grade, ran off of the road and overturned.

The machine was badly wrecked in the crash.

Three automobiles figured in a crash at San Pablo avenue near the Santa Fe crossing on Sunday evening.

The machines were the property of E. M. Pierce of Berkeley, B. Danieles of Oakland and C. E. Clark of Alameda.

The cars were following in single file behind a large passenger truck which stopped at the crossing and the cars bumped into each other. No damage was done.

Automobiles driven by S. Carso of Oakland and George Douglass of Oakland collided at Garvin and Cutting boulevard on Saturday night. No one was injured and no damage was done.

Taft Exonerated
By Grand Jury

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—J. Maxwell Taft, wealthy Oakland Department store owner and society man exonerated himself of alleged violation of the Mann Act today before the Federal Grand Jury.

The jury voted not to indict after Taft waived immunity, had told his version of the "love pilgrimage" of himself and Miss Pauline Kern, across the California border into Tia Juana, Mex., and return.

This, Federal officials claimed, constituted a violation of the Mann Act. On Monday last Miss Kern was summoned before the Grand Jury for questioning. Taft was then notified that if he wished to give his version of the trip, he could appear before them today, providing he waived immunity.

Taft remained in the Grand Jury chambers more than an hour. His wife was then granted permission to go before the jury.

Six University Heads Find Fault With Colleges

CHICAGO, March 15.—Six famous presidents of six famous universities met in round-table conference at the Chicago Commonwealth club recently and discussed the popular question, "what's wrong with American institutions of higher learning?"

When they had finished, six different opinions had been advanced, opinions that differed in detail but which blended in principle.

Dr. Clarence Little, president of the University of Michigan, likened the present system of education to a cafeteria, where students are allowed to rush in and pick out what they like rather than what is good for them. Continuing the metaphor, he said:

"Some of the methods of instruction are like mince pie—composed of many ingredients and often the cause of mental indigestion."

Dr. Max Mason of the University of Chicago, pleaded for the "humanizing of education." He said a more human contact between students and instructors is needed.

"Our aim is to train students to be good citizens," said Dr. Mason. "They must be human. The great body of young men and women who came to our universities will not become scholars. But all can become good citizens."

Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern University and Josiah H. Penniman of the University of Pennsylvania, also dwelt on the importance of humanism in the schools. Dr. Penniman said:

"Education must be dynamic. We must turn out young men and women with enlarged imaginations inspired with new conceptions of the purposes and values of life, and new ideals of the value of their own minds."

Dr. David Kinley of the University of Illinois, found much fault with liberal art courses on account of the elective system. He believes, however, professional courses as a rule are sound.

Glen Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, apologized for his "newness" in the ranks of university presidents, and said: "The country is blessed by having university president who take education seriously."

Big Crowd Greet Evangelist Here At Wesley M. E.

Two big audiences greeted Evangelist Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Jeter Sunday at the opening evangelistic services which they are holding at Wesley Methodist Church. At the Sunday school hour Mrs. Jeter talked to the children and organized three choirs, Junior, Intermediate and Young People. These choirs will supplement the work of the adult choir each evening. At the morning service Jeter delivered a forceful message from the text "There Was Joy in the City." Mrs. Jeter gave a wonderfully helpful and inspiring Bible reading in the afternoon at 3:30 on the subject of the Holy Spirit. These Bible conferences will be held every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, except Monday and Saturday. In the evening at 7:30 Mr. and Mrs. Jeter were guests of the Epworth League. And at 7:00 o'clock Mrs. Jeter gave an outline of the work she will do for children and adults at the 7:00 o'clock service each evening. Special play modeling, painting, and cartooning will be done by the Jeters at these services. At 7:30 Mr. Jeter took charge of the service and led the choir and audience in the "Big Sing." And after the special musical numbers delivered an inspiring, happy, and forceful message from the text, "I Came That Ye Might Have Life." Services for today are as follows: Bible Conference at the church at 2:30 p.m. Big features service for children, young people, and adults at 7:00, and regular evangelistic service at 7:30 o'clock. All are urged to be present at the 7:00 o'clock service and stay right through for the entire evening.

Jazz Cannot Be Blamed for Sin Says Vollmer

(By Universal Service)
BERKELEY, March 15.—James "Doc" Vollmer, chief of police, said today that "jazz and juke" cannot be blamed for the sins of the younger generation.

Blame the parents for the faults of the 1926 flapper and sheik. That was the stand taken by Chief Vollmer at a public hearing of the police department and the board of education, held at the city hall last night.

"Parents, today must learn to control their children," Vollmer said. "They must teach them to be good, and then break them if they are bad. To keep the respect and obedience of their children."

"Children get attention only when they disobey. Parents have no right to demand of their children a code of conduct every day of the week. Instead of a permanent policy."

"Criminals are made by over-feeding and feeding of children by parents with emotions stirred by conflict and by carelessness."

"The cold, forbidding parent is starving the child of mental nourishment."

"Parents must educate themselves before they try to educate their children. So long as children are trained and dominated by personalities inadequate because of intellectual defects or an unhealthy outlook, so long are we going to have children whose characters are twisted and dominated through suggestion and imitation of those parents."

"Depending on threats and punishment to bring about the desired conduct on the part of the child makes a great deal of work later in life for judges and police courts."

"No greater affliction can be placed on a child or no greater assurance that he or she will go wrong in adolescence than inheriting the type of parents who refuse to let them grow up."

Y. M. D. TO MEET
A meeting of the Y. M. D. will be held tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock. Chester Pimm will be in charge of the sessions.

Stucco Homes Can Be Recolored In Three Easy Ways

If your home has a painted wood exterior, you can almost completely change its appearance by re-painting it in a different color-scheme. This is true also of the stucco house, though most owners do not know it.

The first step in renewing and re-coloring stucco is to clean the surface thoroughly. This can be done with any non-alkaline soap and a medium hard brush, if there is no grime or grime on the walls. But if there is, a solution of one part muriatic acid to five parts water must be used. With either the soap-suds or the acid solution, the walls should be scrubbed and then washed down with clean water.

Next, loose particles must be removed and cracks must be mended. Patching may be done with ready-colored stucco of the desired new color, or with Portland Cement mixed with one-and-a-half parts of sand and enough water to make it workable. Then the walls are ready for the new finish.

Factory-mixed stucco-finish may be applied over the old surface. If the original stucco is a hydraulic lime or a Portland cement material. The colored stucco-finish should be mixed with water to a creamy consistency and then, when the walls are perfectly dry, should be applied with an ordinary painter's brush. The new finish need be applied to no greater depth than necessary to hide the old surface.

Another way to accomplish the desired result is to buy an uncolored stucco-finish and mix the color in. However, this is unsafe for the owner himself to try, as even the best-trained mechanic cannot attain the precision of a color-mixing machine. So the home-mixed material carries with it the possibility of uneven or imperfect color.

Still a third method is to use a stucco paint. Some of these are ready-mixed; others require mixing. Those which have oil as an ingredient require a priming coat under the finish-coat.

No stucco house ought to be re-finished until at least six months after application of the first stucco. This interval is especially necessary where oil paint is to be used, because this material "seals" the stucco and prevents further "seasoning."

There is only a slight difference between the cost of refinishing a stucco house with factory-mixed stucco and with stucco paint. Either method can be carried out by the householder himself.

LADY HYDE IN U. S. TO HELP DUST BROTHER

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 15.—Lady Margaret Hyde, the Countess of Suffolk and Berks, is in Chicago to attend the trial of a suit which seeks to oust her brother, Joseph Leiter, as trustee of the $70,000,000 estate left by her father, Levi Leiter. Lady Cynthia Mosely, a niece of the countess, is arrayed on the side of the countess, but will not be present at the trial.

"She looks like a diplomat," her attorneys said today, "but she talks like a banker, which would be approved by her father."

Lady Hyde arose early this morning and had an all-day conference with her attorneys concerning the suit which will come up for trial next Tuesday before Judge Sullivan. Lady Mosely has left depositions which will be used.

Born in Chicago, the countess knew that Chicago weather can change overnight, so when she left her apartment at the Ambassador hotel this morning, she was carrying an umbrella. She was dressed in a brown tailored suit which showed her to be the striking woman she was when she lived in Chicago and Washington as Daisy Leiter.

Lady Hyde won the heart of the Earl of Suffolk while on a visit to her sister, Lady Curzon, in India in 1899. The earl was killed in Mesopotamia during the World War. She has three sons.

The battle which is expected to be one of the most hotly contested legal skirmishes ever fought in Chicago is attracting considerable attention because of the prominence of the people connected with it.

Lady Cynthia Mosely, English socialist leader and her husband, Oswald were in Chicago two weeks ago, for a fortnight's stay during the time that she was here, the Gold Coast hostesses waited on her to pay her compliments, but her time was taken up with the poor men.

She visited and inspected the stock yards, coal mines and the tenement districts. She even was a guest of prominent socialists, but not once did she accept an invitation from the wealthy leaders of Chicago society.

Lady Hyde has not been in Chicago long, but it is not believed that she will follow the social tactics of her charming niece, for although she is president of the Progressive club in her home country, she is not a political leader.

Boulder Canyon Project Favored By C. C. Young

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., March 15.—The Boulder Canyon project, now pending before congress, was discussed this afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor, C. C. Young at a largely attended meeting of the hill and valley club at Hayward, near this city. The speaker described this project, and the Swing-Johnson bill which seeks to put it into operation, as "the most important single piece of legislation ever proposed for the material welfare of California."

The Lieutenant-Governor summed up the four fold benefits of this project, as follows:

"It means flood-control, through the Boulder Canyon dam, saving the fertile Imperial valley from what must otherwise some day be certain destruction. It means through the all-American canal, the reclamation and irrigation of nearly half a million acres of land in California alone—land which is now a forbidding desert waste. It means the securing to Los Angeles and other counties of the rapidly growing south, of enough domestic water to last for generations. Finally, it means the generation of a vast energy of hydro-electric power, not only turning the wheels of future industry, but also making possible the construction of this great Boulder dam without one penny of expense to the Federal government."

In showing his reasons for trying to help arouse northern California to realize the immense value of this project to north and south alike, Young first called attention to the annual conservation of over 29,000,000 barrels of fuel oil which would be saved to other uses through this new power development—a saving which, as oil and oil products become scarcer and dearer, will equally benefit all parts of the state. He then stressed the importance to the north that southern California should secure this new source of water and power, thus insuring that she will find no future need to come beyond the Tehachapi for these necessities.

"Hence," said the Lieutenant-Governor, "every one in central California has an interest in the Boulder Canyon project only second to that of southern California itself. Our water and power will be left for the development of northern and central California alone."

Finally, Young urged that there is, and should always be, a community of interests between both ends of the state, and that what is good for one part of California is good for California as a whole. He concluded:

"We shall soon, both in wealth and population, rank among the very first of the states of the union, and we shall do so, not through the people or the resources of north or of the south alone, but through the population and wealth of both combined. Accordingly, whatever of prosperity may be added to our southern counties by this great Boulder Canyon project will mean, not only prosperity for them, but also prosperity for all our state."

From here, Lieutenant-Governor Young goes to Turlock, where he speaks tomorrow noon, and in the evening to Los Banos in Merced county, where he has been invited to address the combined County Posts of the American Legion on the subject of state expenditure and taxation.

Service Station Owner Attacked

About 12:30 yesterday morning, an unknown man attacked C. G. Pierson, proprietor of a service station at Blake street and San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito. Pierson is now in the Berkeley General hospital.

The Berkeley police department declares that Pierson was struck on the head with a blunt instrument. He sustained a fracture of the left jaw, a badly cut left ear and possible fracture of the skull. He is unable to tell the authorities the reason for the attack or the way it occurred.

GAS PUMP PERMITS

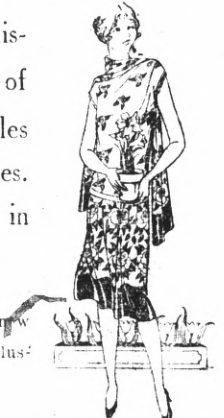

The city council last night issued a permit to Frank Smith, 1095 San Pablo avenue, to install a gas pump on his property. The city council approved of the permit when it was shown that the improvement would not interfere with traffic.

The request of the Pacific Fuel and Feed for a non-visible, one-gallon pump at Sixteenth street was referred to the Superintendent of Streets and is to be reported on at the next meeting of the council.

SANTA CRUZ, March 15.—Royal entertainment here for the six hundred editors and publishers of the United States who will attend the National Editorial Association Convention in California next July was assured yesterday when the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce appropriated $1000 to meet the expenses of a luncheon-banquet and sight seeing tour when the delegates arrived here on their tour of central and northern California on July 11th. The special trains carrying the newspaper men are expected to reach Santa Cruz about noon on July 11, in time for an open air luncheon on the beach under the supervision of the Casa del Rey hotel. Forty Percent of French Youths Are Unfit Records Show

PARIS, March 15.—French government officials were agast tonight when they learned that the tabulation of the recruiting board for the 1926 class of the army showed 40 per cent of France's 18 year old boys have been rejected as deficient. This is the highest rejection percentage in the history of the republic. The privations of the boys during the recent war when they were of school age is said to be the cause of the poor health of France's younger generation.

Both bandits tipped their hats as Mrs. Work hurried back into the neighbor's home.

"Now sir," continued the bandits. "We must have your watch and money, and the key to your car."

Work handed them over. His wallet contained $3.

Senate Settles Election Contest

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 15.—A report awarding the contested Iowa Senatorial election to Daniel F. Stock, over Senator Smith W. Brockhart, Republican, was unanimously adopted by the subcommittee of the senate committee on privileges and elections late today. The full committee will pass upon the report at a special meeting tomorrow.

The subcommittee in recounting contested ballots determined the intention of the voter. By crediting stock with the votes which obviously were intended for him, the democratic contestant received a plurality of 1,400, it is stated.

This meeting of procedure had no effect on the outcome, however, the report states. By counting for Stock only those votes to which he was technically entitled, he would have received a plurality of 76, according to the subcommittee.

The report was submitted by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, and concurred in by Senators Watson, Republican, Indiana; Ernst, Republican, Kentucky; and George, Democrat of Georgia.

Mrs. Anna Richard, of Los Angeles, arrived several days ago for a visit with her daughter in Oakland, and will visit with her sister, Mrs. M. J. Cotton at her home, 926 Eighth street, Richmond, for a few days before returning home.

Judge Allen was admitted to the bar in February, 1888. He was Justice of Peace for eight years at Oakland and later became District Attorney. He retired from that position in 1906 and has been engaged in the practice of law with his son John J. Allen, Jr.

TWO HELD FOR MAIL ROBBERY

Frank Hibbs and Harry A. Duff are now in the county jail at Oakland suspected of being accomplices in the ring of mail robbers who are said to have stolen thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in the bay regions. An alleged confession by Hibbs will probably result in the arrest of several other people that are connected with the ring, in the next 24 hours.

Hibbs was arrested at the Southern Pacific mole at Oakland on Sunday by Post Office Inspector C. Christensen, of San Francisco and C. Hogan of the American Railway Express company who declared that they caught him stealing packages from a mail truck enroute to San Francisco. The two hid themselves in a coal house on the pier and watched for several hours in an attempt to trace thieves whom they believed responsible for numerous losses of mailed merchandise during the past year.

According to the agents, Hibbs confessed to stealing three packages valued at $200 in Sunday's thefts. He furnished them with information that led to the capture of Duff, a truckman, and also accused several people of being in the activities.

Duff and Hibbs are both truckmen employed by the Southern Pacific company.

Warrants will be asked from the Deputy United States Commissioner charging the men with violations of the Carlin act. This act calls for the arrest of people stealing mail or packages en route to be mailed in an inter-state shipment.

Free Help

To millions who needlessly suffer

Here is a new help—a new discovery—which doctors are prescribing now to millions. It is a gland secretion derived from beef livers. It stimulates the liver quickly, multiplies the flow of bile. Modern research proves that cathartics never do that.

Bile floods the bowels, keeps them open. The results come over night.

Bile combats the bowel germs which feed poisons to the blood. It is an antiseptic. Stopping those poisons corrects countless ill conditions.

Bile is a digestant. It corrects bowel indigestion. Learn what it means to you—for constipation, for impure blood, for indigestion. The results will amaze and delight you.

Dioxol tablets embody this liver gland secretion. Each tablet represents ten drops.

After considerable thought the park official decided to install a trap. The contrivance worked and today Lewis declared he was enjoying perfect radio reception. "If you would enjoy your radio use a steel gopher trap as part of your equipment," is the park superintendent's advice.
